Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dahlen (5,870,454)

As to claim 1, Dahlen teaches a message delivery system (Fig.3), comprising:

Telephone (22) coupled to a network (20) capable of extracting (30) information regarding the calling and caller party;

Computer terminal (100) associated with the message recipient's telephone;

A subscriber profiled database (50) for storing an associated computer information of individual's mailbox characterized in that voice messages are converted into text (80) and transmitted (40) for display to the recipient computer (abstract; page 3).

As to claim 2, Dahlen teaches text translator (95) for translating the text from one language to another.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dahlen.

As to claims 3-4, Dahlen teaches where the speech of the caller is converted into text using speech recognition that inherently uses callers' voice profile/pattern for recognizing the subsequent utterance. Dahlen however doesn't teach how the voice profile of the caller is obtained and updated. Official Notice is taken that obtaining voice profile during communication is common and well known in the art of speech recognition and would be obvious in Dahlen's art for the purpose registering or modifying the speech pattern of the callers.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 4 recites the limitation "'the voice speech and translation means" There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Kanevsky et al. (6,442,519), Col.5, line 16-20.
